

Rodent Breeding and Colony Management

ACTS invites you to attend a Free Educational Event! The Rodent Breeding and Colony Management Seminar & Vendor Fair hosted by, University Laboratory Animal Resources, University of Pennsylvania. Please share this announcement with others in your organization that may be interested in attending.

When: Tuesday, August 9, 2011, 9am-4pm

Where: BRB Auditorium, 421 Curie Blvd, Philadelphia,

Cost: Free!

Register at this link: <https://www.123signup.com/register?id=cfcxn>

Program details: Jan Parker-Thornburg, Ph.D presents Mouse Tales: Introduction to Mouse Breeding and Colony Management And More Tails from the Crypt: Advance Mouse Colony Management Other topics include cryopreservation/rederivation, developing rodent models, and genotyping.

Speaker bio: Jan Parker-Thornburg is an Associate Professor in the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology at the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston, Texas, U.S.A. She obtained her PhD from Indiana University and then held a postdoctoral position at the University of Cincinnati. There she trained in the field of transgenesis, after which she went to The Ohio State University to establish their transgenic facility. In 2002, she moved to M. D. Anderson and where she manages the Genetically Engineered Mouse Facility.

Vendors: Vendor participation is available. 5 formal presentation slots remaining.

Vendor registration link: <https://www.123signup.com/register?id=cxfrm>

Contact: William Singleton at William@actstraining.com or 484-574-7455 for more information.